INTRODUCTION

Dear esteemed Philatelist,

At the end of another difficult year dominated by the COVID-19 pandemic and related hardships, we offer you another refreshing collection of Namibian stamps. While the pale chanting goshawk is probably the most conspicuous raptor along Namibian roadsides, our other hawks are less well-known. The Sandhof lily provides a seasonal burst of natural splendour that has become world-famous. Lastly, lapwings are a genus of interesting wading birds that make for beautiful art subjects. We are proud to celebrate all of these gems of our natural heritage with commemorative stamp issues.

Enjoy collecting another range of wonderful Namibian stamps!

Mrs Hannelie Maasdorp

HAWKS OF NAMIBIA

Goshawks and sparrowhawks are small to medium-sized raptors.

While goshawks tend to perch conspicuously on tree tops or tall posts to search for prey, sparrowhawks are unobtrusive and hunt by stealth and ambush amongst trees and bushes.

SANDHOF LILY OF NAMIBIA

The seasonal lily fields at Sandhof in southern Namibia have become famous.

When sufficient rain falls at the right time, these lilies grow in astounding profusion on shallow ephemeral pans, creating a stunningly beautiful sight. They also attract scores of red-spotted lily weevils, which feed on the plants.

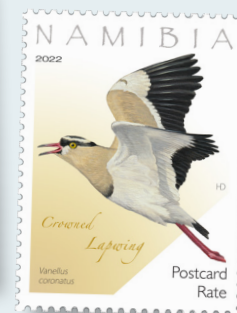

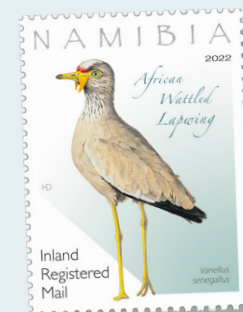

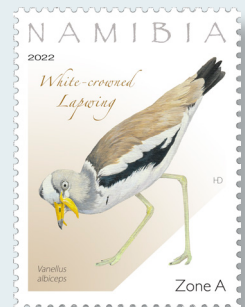

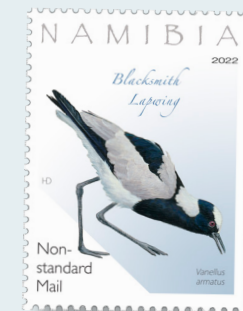

Issue date: 22 July 2022

LAPWINGS OF NAMIBIA

Lapwings form a conspicuous genus of waders within the plover family. They have a distinctive build, with a short bill and neck, and a very upright stance. Their loud alarm calls are a typical feature of their wetland or grassland habitats.
